6. Anti-Racist Results Based Accountability (AR-RBA):

AR-RBA recognizes that inequities in Sonoma County are the result of generations of institutional and structural racism. Advancing equity in our community demands that we look at community and program level data by race and other social demographics to adopt strategies to eliminate inequities. The AR-RBA framework centers communities with the greatest need while creating a data driven culture that embodies root cause analysis, participatory practice, organizational self-reflection and authentic relationship building.

Measurable change is a core component of a data driven culture. AR-RBA uses Performance Measures to look at the quality, efficiency, and outcome of services. AR-RBA asks three Performance Measure questions to get at the most important program outputs and outcomes: How much did we do? How well did we do it? Is anyone better off? RBA helps identify community-wide impact by creating measurable changes in people's lives, communities and organizations and improving effectiveness of programs. Performance measure outcomes are identified to look at the quality and efficiency of services. RBA asks three questions to get at the most important performance measure outcomes: How much did we do? How well did we do it? Is anyone better off?

The AR-RBA framework centers communities with the greatest need while creating a data driven culture that embodies root cause analysis, participatory practice, organizational self-reflection and authentic relationship building.

Measurable change is a core component of a data driven culture. AR-RBA uses Performance Measures to look at the quality, efficiency, and outcome of services. AR-RBA asks three Performance Measure questions to get at the most important program outputs and outcomes: How much did we do? How well did we do it? Is anyone better off? RBA helps identify community-wide impact by creating measurable changes in people's lives, communities and organizations and improving effectiveness of programs. Performance measure outcomes are identified to look at the quality and efficiency of services. RBA asks three questions to get at the most important performance measure outcomes: How much did we do? 6. Anti-Racist Results Based Accountability (AR-RBA):

AR-RBA recognizes that inequities in Sonoma County are the result of generations of institutional and structural racism. Advancing equity in our community demands that we look at community and program level data by race and other social demographics to adopt strategies to eliminate inequities. The AR-RBA framework centers communities with the greatest need while creating a data driven culture that embodies root cause analysis, participatory practice, organizational self-reflection and authentic relationship building.

Measurable change is a core component of a data driven culture. AR-RBA uses Performance Measures to look at the quality, efficiency, and outcome of services. AR-RBA asks three Performance Measure questions to get at the most important program outputs and outcomes: How much did we do? How well did we do it? Is anyone better off? RBA helps identify community-wide impact by creating measurable changes in people's lives, communities and organizations and improving effectiveness of programs. Performance measure outcomes are identified to look at the quality and efficiency of services. RBA asks three questions to get at the most important performance measure outcomes: How much did we do?
