Discussion:

Organizational Development Professionals Services Background:

The Human Resources Department (HR) is responsible for providing consultation and support to County departments and agencies on all employment-related matters including employee relations, organizational development, and individual employee development. To accomplish this goal, an appropriate level of expertise is required in all areas. While HR successfully provides a wide variety of services, a resource gap exists in the areas of Organizational Development Services, which are supplemental to the core HR services already being provided.

The types of projects and services provided by the Organizational Development Consultants may include the following:

- Assessment, coaching, mentoring and support for supervisors and managers, including executive management, in areas such as interpersonal and other communication skills, leadership, emotional intelligence, fostering employee engagement, and other related areas as may be identified;
- Conflict resolution, mediation of interpersonal conflicts between employees, team building activities, and other group facilitation;
- Facilitation in the identification and development of strategic planning and change management initiatives; and
- Other organizational development work as needed.

The goal is to ensure an appropriate level of expertise and sufficient resources available to County departments and to provide an efficient and cost-effective process for individual departments to contract for these services. This goal will be met by establishing Organizational Development service agreements with a pool of pre-approved Organizational Development Consultants specializing in a variety of areas capable of providing services to County departments on HR's recommendation and approval as needs arise. Costs are borne by the individual requesting department under a Blanket Purchase Order (BPO) arrangement with prior approval from HR.

With the establishment of a pool of qualified Organizational Development Consultants and the BPO structure, HR is better able to advise County departments when it is determined these services are needed. HR Workforce Development has used this system successfully since the unit's re-establishment in 2013.

Training Professional Services Background:

The Human Resources Department (HR) through its Workforce Development Unit is responsible for providing training to all County departments and agencies. To continue to provide a robust Countywide training program, additional training resources are necessary to provide instruction in a variety of topics, augmenting those that exceed the capacity, level of expertise, or experience of in-house trainers. Training Professionals may specialize and provide instruction in one, some, or all of the training topics. Additionally, development of training curricula in various subjects for multiple modalities including live in-person, virtual and hybrid (both in person and virtual).

Training topics may include but are not limited to:

- Computer and analytic skills;
- Professional Development: Time management, work/life balance, professional writing, effective communication, public speaking, collaboration, team building, etc.;
- Interpersonal Skills: Emotional intelligence, self-awareness, mindfulness, wellness, decision making, interpersonal effectiveness, stress management, resilience, and related topics as may be appropriate;
- Customer Service: Customer service in public agencies, active listening, customer awareness and advocacy, de-escalation, difficult customers, providing excellent customer service in culturally diverse communities, ethics, etc.;
- Supervisory, Management, and Executive Development: Team building and development; effective meetings management; performance management; team dynamics; staff planning and effective hiring practices; change management; project management; defining and delegating tasks; leadership skills; strategic planning; innovative and critical thinking; process improvement, etc.; and
- Performance and Personal Effectiveness: Coaching, mentoring, collaborative decision making, building consensus, fostering, and changing cultures and environments.

The goal is to ensure an appropriate level of expertise and the broadest training curricula are made available to County employees in the most efficient and cost-effective manner. There is a need to allow departments to easily contract and obtain training services for intact team trainings when deemed appropriate with the prior approval of HR. This goal will be met by establishing Training Professional service agreements with a pool of pre-approved Training Professionals specializing in a variety of areas capable of providing training services to HR-Workforce Development as well as to individual County departments on HR's recommendation and approval.

To ensure an appropriate level of expertise, and to provide an efficient and cost-effective process to contract for these services, staff recommends the establishment of service agreements with a pool of pre-approved Training Professionals capable of providing a variety of courses. Costs are borne by the individual requesting department under a Blanket Purchase Order (BPO) arrangement with prior approval from HR.

HR Workforce Development has used this system successfully since the unit's re-establishment in 2013.

Racial Equity Consultants and Training Professionals Services Background:

The Human Resources Department (HR) through its Workforce Development Unit is charged with supplementing Countywide race equity training that is being provided by the Office of Equity, and providing tools and learning opportunities for departments and employees working towards achieving racial equity in County service provision and ensuring the County workforce is reflective of the community we serve. To that end, HR has identified a need for Racial Equity Consultants and Training Professionals to support both the work of the Workforce Development Unit as well as other departments who are at various stages of evaluating and implementing race equity initiatives. Of the nineteen (19) consultants who are being recommended for contract awards today, eight (8) have experience providing racial equity consulting and training in the following areas:

- Team building and group facilitation focused on improving the abilities of employees at all levels to communicate and work together more respectfully and productively;

- Coaching/mentoring employees, supervisors, and managers on specific practices that promote inclusiveness and belonging;
- Conflict resolution, mediation of interpersonal conflicts between employees of differing backgrounds;
- Equity-centered assessments of current internal organizational policies, procedures, and processes to identify any areas that may be barriers to an equitable workplace and provide detailed recommendations for necessary improvements;
- Assistance in developing methods for evaluating progress and areas for continued growth in alignment with the intended impact of Countywide Racial Equity initiatives;
- Data gathering and analysis of input from County employees and constituents related to their training in the areas of diversity, equity, inclusion, and belonging; and
- Design, develop, and present anti-racism model curriculum centered on training of County leadership and employees.

The goal is to ensure an appropriate level of expertise and sufficient resources available to County departments and to provide an efficient and cost-effective process for individual departments to contract for these services. This goal will be met by establishing Racial Equity Consultants and Training Professionals service agreements with a pool of pre-approved Racial Equity Consultants and Training Professionals specializing in a variety of areas capable of providing services to County departments on HR's recommendation and approval as needs arise. Costs are borne by the individual requesting department under a Blanket Purchase Order (BPO) arrangement with prior approval from HR.

With the establishment of a pool of qualified Racial Equity Consultants and Training Professionals and the BPO structure, HR is better able to advise County departments when it is determined these services are needed.

Request for Proposals (RFP) and Selection Process:

The goal of this RFP was to establish service agreements for Organizational Development Consultants, Professional Development Trainers, and Racial Equity Consultants/Trainers.

A vetted pool of consultants and trainers who specialize in a variety of areas will provide essential organizational workforce development to County departments based upon Human Resources Department recommendation and approval. An RFP was issued on February 9, 2024.

The RFP was posted to the Sonoma County Purchasing Supplier Portal, and event invitations sent to nearly 708 suppliers. An additional 2,072 notifications were sent to subscribers of the RFP/Q posting list. Thirty-two (32) proposals were received, and a comprehensive evaluation was conducted involving individuals with training, organizational development, and racial equity experience from both Human Resources and the Office of Equity.
