Title:
DBAdmin LLC Information Technology Services for Sonoma County's Integrated Justice System Support

Recommended Action:
Authorize the Information Systems Director to execute a professional services agreement with DBAdmin LLC for technical services for the period ending on May 19, 2027, including two additional one-year options to extend, with a total amount not to exceed $645,450.

Executive Summary:
The Information Systems Department (ISD) is requesting to enter into a direct professional services agreement with DBAdmin LLC, to provide specialized IT technical support services to continue database administration support for Sonoma County's centralized Integrated Justice System (IJS) and include database system administration and maintenance, Informix specific expertise, analytical support, troubleshooting, documentation, and knowledge transfer related to work being performed.

CR) Please add how this contract aligns with current and upcoming IJS efforts.
DBAdmin will continue to support the legacy IJS system which will be superseded by the current IJS modernization efforts led by Ernst and Young. Modernization efforts will conclude with Sheriff and Probation moving onto commercial case management systems allowing for the retirement of the legacy IJS system which is expected to remain in service for the next three to five years. In addition to legacy support, DBAdmin also has experience administering Postgres and No SQL databases both of which will be components in need of support post modernization.

Discussion:

The skillset and knowledge that DBAdmin LLC possesses is unique and of critical importance to the County and the ongoing support of the Integrated Justice System (IJS). DBAdmin LLC has extensive knowledge and expertise of the Informix relational database management system that is the primary data store for IJS. Since September of 2018, DBAdmin LLC has been supporting IJS, and in that time, has obtained a deep understanding of the custom data structures, system configuration, system architecture and application deployment models, as well as County policies, practices, and processes. In addition, Informix is a niche relational database that comprises roughly 3% of the professional market. Resources that have Informix expertise do exist, but in very small numbers, and none will have the additional knowledge or ability to effectively and efficiently support IJS as DBAdmin LLC does in their current role. Based on the Department’s findings of lack of service providers to support critical County systems and due to the specific expertise of the contractor providing services under the agreement, Purchasing has approved the single source selection of DBAdmin LLC.

ISD staff recommend the Board of Supervisors take this action in order to ensure adequate support for the ongoing needs of the County’s Integrated Justice System, which will provide the County the benefit of gaining additional service hours at a comparable cost as the County is currently paying for the services.
